

Gilbert Reports Washington Visit

By Roy Musick

Student Government Editor

"Tall" Paul Gilbert, ASBYU President, returned Friday from a two-day visit in Washington D.C. BYU was one of 30 universities to receive an invitation to the Presidential "Prayer Breakfast."

"It was the most productive conference I have ever attended," exclaimed Gilbert. He arrived in Washington Wednesday afternoon and sat in small groups with other student body presidents to exchange ideas about the trends on college campuses.

Gilbert said he was impressed by the "high intellectual level" of the school leaders. "Their personal standards are high and they seek goals similar to ours."

ACADEMIC TREND

Among the trends found on other campuses Gilbert noted an increased emphasis being placed on academics. The idea of staging inquiry weeks was one of the most favorably received suggestions at the conference.

One of Gilbert's most vivid recollections was of the breakfast in the White House. As delegates were sealing themselves, the President of the United States was announced. As President Johnson entered the room, a "profound silence of respect" was experienced by the group.

PRAYER

Johnson addressed the guests about the importance of prayer and according to Gilbert, Johnson said, "I want you to know that in these troubled times your President goes on his knees in prayer. A nation is never taller than when it kneels to pray."

Gilbert felt Senator Hatfield was "most impressive." "He is one of the up and coming leaders of the nation. He is a distinguished speaker and has a fine mind."

After seeing the White House rooms, most of the delegates tour the city. Gilbert, however, visited the Senate Building and talked with men responsible for scheduling the Democratic and Republican speaking tours.

NOT LISTED

"One of the problems we have been having is that our school was not on the list in the Speakers Bureau," said Gilbert. "I signed the school's name to the list and received a promise of cooperation from the men heading the bureau."

Several delegates at the conference and breakfast commented about the respect they had for BYU and cited especially the "outstanding basketball team."

Because of the experience in Washington, Gilbert observed he has "gained a new respect for the President and the high office he holds."

Presiding Bishop To Speak

Bishop Robert L. Simpson will speak at Devotional Assembly Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

A native of Salt Lake City, Bishop Simpson spent much of his life in Southern California. He was called to the Presiding Bishopric in 1961.

He served a mission in New Zealand and after World War II returned to that country as mission president.

During his military service in the World War, Bishop Simpson was the servicemen's coordinator for the Church in North Africa and the Middle East. He holds a service record as an Air Force Captain in Egypt, Turkey, Iran, and Arabia.

THANKFUL

Editor:

Having read how "thankful" Mrs. Anita Kaye Price is to be here, it puzzles me to no end to see where she was thankful to be free to drink, use drugs, and worse, listen to athletes (simply shocking) at other sinful universities.

It even puzzles me more why her parents did not teach her the correct principles so she could govern herself upon reaching the age of 18. My parents taught me how to conduct myself in society.

When first grade came along, I was therefore ready to be "in" the world but not "of" the world. From then on it was downhill.

Living the standards were never hard because somebody sat down and taught them to me.

I didn't need to be policed. Having attended three other universities, I find it most hypocritical to be subjected to enforced regulations at every turn.

My high school principal exerted less pressure and more responsibility upon the student body than "the powers that be" could possibly imagine here.

No, I won't cut out because I don't like these sinister regulations. I would stay and protest such gospel abuses as these that are flagrantly imposed on a docile and apathetic student body.

When nearly all the first ten amendments of the Constitution are denied to BYU students on the grounds that the University is private property, then I will protest and continue to do so until changes can be made.

Why are they so afraid to give man his agency? To practice what we profess?

SUGGESTION

Editor: Friday's Universe mentioned a defense attorney's claim that "two informers" were used "to encourage the students to 'get high,' and that 'one of them was employed by Security."

The implications of this claim are extremely serious. Is Security profiting some illegal enticement with one hand while holding handcuffs in the other?

The lawyer's claim, as stated in the Universe seems to imply this.

This claim should be thoroughly investigated by an agency other than the Security Office or the Administration. If, as of several days ago, arrest justified suspicion, such a claim certainly justifies investigation.

I suggest that the Universe editors conduct this investigation and inform the students and faculty of their findings. Such a serious challenge to the integrity of the University should not go unchallenged or uninvestigated.

Editor's Note: We'll give it the old college try.

RECENT ARRESTS

Attention is being drawn to BYU by virtue of the recent arrest of individuals possessing narcotics. This should be cause for alarm.

May I express a few reflections I have had as a student concerning this episode.

The idea that just a few students can destroy an image that has taken many years to create is unfair to the remaining members of the student body. Our standards are higher than any other university in the country, and yet we seem to get more attention in the press for our malcontents than we do for our achievements.

Letters ...

We can be proud of our student body, what we are and what we stand for. This should be a regulation we all strive to maintain under any and all circumstances. Most of us came to BYU to be part of this environment so we cannot ignore those who are bringing disonor to the Institution.

Basically, those who are striving to live the standards of the Church particularly the Word of Wisdom, would find no difficulty where drugs and narcotics are concerned. If we do not smoke, then smoking marijuana presents no problem. If we are of reason to do so, then of all the standards we are standing to uphold.

It is time to reevaluate our objectives. Can we determine why we are involved in an implausible drug problem? How could it be avoided? Did any of us recognize the first signs of the problem? What can you do to avoid a repeat performance and the resultant unfavorable publicity?

I feel we can all be proud of our student body for past accomplishments. American Week was a great success. Downtown merchants aided us in our efforts to solve an off-street parking problem and the students supported this action. Our athletes and scholars were establishing enviable reputations. Let's make sure what the majority is doing to enhance the image of BYU is not cancelled by the actions of a few. Stand firm on your values. Be proud of the Church and its ideals. Live in such a way that you will not become involved in the seamy elements of life. After all, your reputation is also at stake. Respect for your position and your honor is a basic requirement at this institution.

Let's keep it that way.

Paul Gilbert

RIGHTS

Editor: Someone should inform Dean Cameron that the present year is 1965 and not 1964.

Or am I mistaken? Is it now possible to read in the paper on Thursday, "Dean affirms arrest means suspension," and then on Friday, read: "Just because someone is arrested does not mean he will be suspended," and convince oneself that history has not been tampered with?

About Big Brother: until Christmas, two of the persons involved in the recent narcotics raid were my roommates. They are still my closest friends. Before Christmas neither of them used any form of drugs. They are now being charged with the possession of marijuana. This charge resulted from a recently formed acquaintance with two BYU-employed informers.

PROOFREADER SOUGHT

The Daily Universe is accepting applications for the job of proofreader.

All applicants should appear for interview in the Universe office, fifth floor Wilkinson Center, between 3 and 5 p.m. today or make other arrangements.

The job pays a reasonable salary, the hours are 9 p.m. to around or past midnight, and the work is proofreading and making corrections.

These informers, who are responsible for the arrests, are to use the drugs themselves actively encouraged and tried to persuade my friends to use them. Yes, hoover, all in Zion.

About Capt. Swen Nielsen's statement in Friday's "Suppose I overlook a point, and the case goes out of court. Does that student did not commit the crime?"

Suppose Capt. Nielsen lead a troop of 14 amateur policemen on a private raid to smash in the door with hammers, arrest 7 or 8 people, threatening them, and confiscate property as evidence (such as a bottle of vitamin pills), and then presenting or securing a search warrant? I think "technically" it is.

And Capt. Nielsen, after doing a police officer presented citizen guilty after an arrest. And publish this pronouncement. Doesn't the American law apply at BYU? Have we forfeited our constitutional rights here?

I think perhaps the people were jailed after the Joseph

LORD'S SOCIAL ORGANIZATION

Editor: I was happy to read in the Universe that the Gospel is being taught in Sunday Schools attended by Alice Dygert. However, I am under the impression that she is under Honor Code instead of free agency.

Whenever the Lord has called a social order, the earth is one such order, established certain principles which individuals MUST conform with in order to receive His blessing. He has further imposed obligations upon members of these orders that they should themselves of practices which are not consistent with these standards.

If Miss Dygert will recall her lessons on the mortal council, she will see those who exercised their agency by rejecting the plan were NOT PERMITTED to participate in it, and further that she was purged from that order because of her followers' bad practices of the society.

It is true that BYU is an educational institution and administered by Christ through his authority, then it is perfectly evident that he should expect compliance with his standards.

Those who find such obligations onerous can exercise their agency by leaving. They are not compelled to do so. Those who find such a profitable and enjoyable litigation, as a conditio-

SITE for participation in themselves, when necessary, practices that are best.

The Church This Week

by Pierre Hathaway
Universe Religion Writer

Architectural drawings for the Provo and Ogden temples were approved by the first Presidency last week. Scheduled completion for the two buildings is 1970. The design is both revolutionary and functionally different from temples now in use.

The exterior is similar on both buildings. Basically they are four-story buildings—three above ground and a basement. The ground level is to have a squared off appearance, while the upper levels will form a somewhat oval shape.

MATERIALS

Cast white stone and gold anodized aluminum are the exterior materials. The interiors, while complementing the exterior design, are to be equipped with escalators. The purpose of the design is to incorporate utility, comfort, convenience, and maintain the spirituality so important to temples.

Presently the Salt Lake, Logan, and Manti temples account for the greater percentage of endowment work. The three temple districts currently serve over 700,000 members.

Remodeling the Manti and Logan temples was originally considered; but the cost of $3 to $4 million would have been close to the estimates for building the two new temples, not to mention the architectural homicide of the two older buildings.

The construction of the new temples will bring to 15 the number of temples in use throughout the world.

NEW MILESTONE FOR PRES. MCKAY

President David O. McKay is now the longest lived general authority in Church history.

Previously Charles W. Penrose, who lived 93 years three months and eight days held the title for longevity. President Penrose when he died in 1934 was first counselor to President Heber J. Grant.

The longest service of a prophet in the latter days was that of Brigham Young who served for 30 years. Heber J. Grant served 26 years and President McKay is in his 17th year.

BUILDING PROGRESS CITED

The Church completed 165 buildings in 1967 according to Mark Garff, chairman of the Church Building Committee. The buildings included chapels, seminaries, institutes, and remodeling existing structures.

Concurrent with the 165 completed projects, 171 more buildings throughout the world were under construction at the arrival of the new year.

Three phases are involved in the construction of a church building. They are project development, architectural planning, and actual construction. In 1967, 246 buildings were moved from project development to architectural planning, a significant advance according to chairman Garff.

Special projects are handled outside the regular building program. These include the two temples, hospitals, schools, and office buildings. Currently there are eleven special projects in progress.

PEOPLES & GRAMMAR

It was ruff. My beloved grammar was real as I was walking in the Honors Room with my men when I seen this wimpy: "Everything in correct" which leads to "that good gramer, here ain't so good. The student may never again have the opportunity to become more intimately acquainted with the much vaunted "army way." Since a university now develops (more or less) the superego in the individual, as well as the nobler concepts passed down through the centuries, we would not want the student to become a pansy so we welcome this opportunity to develop our ID.

After graduation, what? Will you begin your career as an engineer or scientist or return to school for an advanced degree?

You can do both at NOL

If you are an engineer in the top third of your class or a scientist in the top quarter of your class, NOL offers you the opportunity to begin your career in one of the world's great laboratories and, at the same time, go ahead with your plans for graduate study.

NOL is a laboratory in the true meaning of the word, and one of the largest and best-equipped laboratories in the world. It is the nation's leading R&D establishment for Anti-Submarine Warfare (ASW), the Navy's principal high speed aeroballistics activity, and a leader in the development of new air and surface weapons. The spectrum of research at NOL ranges from nuclear effects to acoustics to explosives and materials. At NOL, weapons development is carried through from inception to design to prototype test and development. Since 1950, NOL has completed 209 new weapons and devices such as SUBROC, nuclear depth bombs, mines, projectile fuses, underwater detection systems, and components and design data for POLARIS, TARTAR, TALOS, TERRIER, ATLAS and TITAN missiles. A civilian staff of over 3,000 people includes more than 1,000 professional engineers and scientists—experts with national and international reputations. Extensive and unique facilities embrace wind tunnels operating to Mach 17, hypersonic ballistic ranges, the world's most exceptional hydroballistic facility, shock tunnels, 300g centrifuge... multi-million-dollar experimental facilities.

Here is your opportunity. Each year, NOL interviews outstanding engineering and science graduating students. Selects the handful that seems to be really creative. Takes them to its beautiful 875-acre "campus" (the front yard is a golf course) in the rolling hills of Maryland near the Nation's Capital. Puts them through an optional one-year professional development course with rotational assignments to various areas within the Laboratory to prepare them for permanent assignments.

From the very beginning, new staff members have an opportunity to contribute directly to significant projects... to be part of an organization where groups are small and emphasis is on the individual.

NOL offers you a graduate study program that is one of the largest and most productive programs in the country. Each year members of our professional staff receive M.S.'s or Ph.D.'s through this program. NOL has a significant advantage in its proximity to the University of Maryland. Many NOL staff members hold permanent part-time positions on the Maryland faculty, and graduate level courses are taught at NOL every semester. Maryland also offers many courses on its own campus—only minutes away—at times which are convenient to and keyed to the special requirements of NOL.

site systems, instrumentation for weapons evaluation and aeroballistics research, and performance of new concept feasibility experiments.

Chemical Engineers and Chemists—for research and development pertaining to high-energy propellants and explosives; high polymers; molecular and crystal structures; electrochemistry; high-temperature, high-pressure chemical equilibrium studies; and the thermodynamics of high-energy reactions.

Engineering Physicists and Physicists—theoretical and experimental research in a wide range of areas including signal processing, infrared radiation, acoustics, magnetic and semi-conductor materials, and detonation physics; plus weapon systems development and studies.

Utah Swimmers Edge BYU In Last Relay

By Mike Barney
University Sportswriter

Two seconds can mean the difference between victory and defeat. The BYU swim team learned the value of time Saturday as it lost a very closely fought meet to the swimmers from the University of Utah by a score of 47-57.

After some bad breaks at the beginning of the meet the Cougars fought back from a 23-2 deficit to within three points from the Utes. The meet finally hung on the outcome of the last event—the 400 yard freestyle relay.

Two Seconds

In the last lap the Ute swimmers pulled ahead and the Ultes won the event and the meet—by two seconds.

The Cougars showed great strength and proved that they are competitive swimmers by overcoming a 21-point advantage held by the Utes. The turn seemed to come during the diving contest. Mike Bradley of BYU took second place in that event.

The results:
400 Medley Relay: 1. Utah (3:46.0), 2. BYU, 3. Brigham Young, Rob Kittel—Utah (100-44.), 2. Raesmussen—Utah (10:47.9), 3. BYU (10:52.2).
200 Freestyle, Rich Kittel—Utah (1:50.0), 2. BYU (1:52.2).
50 Freestyle, 1. Raesmussen—BYU (20.1), 2. BYU (20.8), 3. Peacock—Utah (23.9).
100 IM, 1. Polkman—Utah (2:03.1), 2. Yamashita—BYU (2:08.5), 3. Johnson—BYU (2:15.1).
100 Backstroke, 1. Lewis—Utah, 2. Bradley—BYU, 3. Gleon—Utah.
100 Fly, 1. Kite—Utah (2:03.6), 2. Allison—BYU (2:05.4), 3. Fabriman—BYU (2:09.1).
100 Freestyle, 1. Rich Kittel—Utah (49.0), 2. Peacock—BYU (50.4), 3. Peacock—Utah (52.9).
200 Backstroke, 1. Yamashita—BYU (2:06.1), 2. Johnson—BYU (2:08.5).
500 Free, 1. Peacock—Utah (3:05.0), 2. Raesmussen—Utah (3:13.8).
200 Individual Medley: 1. Wester—BYU (2:23.6), 2. O'Keefe—BYU (2:24.5), 3. Peacock—Utah (2:31.3).

Gymnastics Team Loses

Failing to maintain its momentum after the first three events, BYU's gymnastics team lost a close match to the University of Utah, 175.20-172.95, Friday in the Utah Fieldhouse.

Austin Thatcher won the floor exercise event and Craig Chamberlain tied for first in the still rings to build an early lead for BYU, but after that only one event was won by a Y Gymnast—Thatcher won the long horse competition.

Second place finishers for BYU were Dennis Ramsey in the side horse, Perry Quinn in the rings, and Dave Watters in the parallel bar.

British Maximize On Miniwords

By Gay Pauley

UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—The English language certainly is getting the maxi-mium dosage of the minwords.

The onslaught started off course with the miniskirts. And before you could say minmouse, the minis had spread. They gravitated into diplomacy, government, the economy, morality, agriculture, the amusement world, sports, even into medicine. And naturally, they kept right on going in fashions.

The British, who started the miniskirt, also began to use the minis for everything else in the Queen's English and the headline writers had maximal fun with words such as minibusget, minidevaluation and minipound (when the British government devaluated its currency).

OTHER BRITISHISMS

Our London office garnered a whole passel of minis from the British newspapers.

There were also: miniman (for use of those opposed to Harold Wilson); Miniholiday (50 pound travel allowance); minicures (long weekend trips); and miniteleys (small television sets).

Musicians

Winners of the senior division of the 1968 Youth Artist Auditions of the Utah Valley Symphony were all students at BYU.

The three winners will perform with two winners of the junior division Feb. 23 in the Provo LDS Tabernacle.

Marybeth Reynolds, who has studied piano in New York and Europe, will play Lazar's "Concerto No. 2" in A Major. String duo Party Stewart, violinist, and Diane Petersen, violist, will play the "Mozart Concertante."

These three musicians were selected by four judges from a roster of eighteen contestants. According to Mrs. Madsen, the winners were distinguished from a technically competent group by their greater finesse, power, and maturity.

Ancient Instruments Tuned Up

The music department is planning two special events in the next two weeks.

Ancient instruments will come to Mt. Harmon Jr. High in Price. The students will hear the instruments when they visit the BYU Ancient Instrument Display next Saturday.

Under the direction of Homer Wakefield, Music Dept., the students are given an opportunity to see the instruments in the Van Buren collection, the oriental collection of Lloyd Miller and other instruments. After a brief lecture about their uses, members of Wakefield's Ancient Instrument Ensemble will play selections for the visitors.

RICKS BAND

The annual Ricks College Concert Band and BYU Symphonic Band combined concert will tune up Feb. 16 in the Salt Lake Tabernacle.

Started last year, the show proved to be a popular event. The two bands performed in Jong Concert Hall. This year was decided to give a larger audience a chance to hear the oriental bands perform and thus the concert is scheduled in the Tabernacle.

Richard Ballou directs the Symphonic Band and D. Slaughter conducts the Ricks Band.

Electrifying Opportunities at Southern California Edison

Electrical Engineers
Mechanical Engineers
Civil Engineers
Chemical Engineers
Thermonuclear Engineers

Come live and work with us in Southern California. Aside from the fact that Southern California is the advanced technology capital of the world, we'd also like to mention that the weather is great, sports and entertainment are unlimited, and all the girls are beautiful.

Now about us. We're just completing our first major nuclear station, the 450,000 kw capacity San Onofre facility. It will be the largest in the U.S. when it completes the check-out phase and goes on line.

We have more nuclear stations in the planning stages, including a combination electric power and desalination plant.

We're doing lots of work in EHV transmission, too. And we're looking even further ahead to direct conversion methods; thermionics, thermoelectrics, and magnetohydrodynamics.

GROW WITH US

We must double our generating capacity in the next eight years to keep pace with the electrical demands of Southern and Central California. By 1975, we'll also have doubled our total plant and equipment investment to more than five billion dollars. And we'll probably have to double again in the eight years after that. We need top engineering talent. Electrical engineers, mechanical engineers, civil engineers, chemical engineers, and thermonuclear engineers.

Master's Program

We offer good starting salaries and opportunities for rapid advancement. Our master's program will pick up the bills for you if you want to work toward an advanced degree while employed at Edison.

If you're interested in advancing the state of the art in the generation, transmission and distribution of electricity, check with your placement office regarding Edison's visit on campus. Or write: F. J. Ofosako, Southern California Edison, P. O. Box 351, Los Angeles, California 90053.

"I was determined not to take a job where I'd be compartmentalized. That's one reason I chose IBM," says George Leffler. (George, who has his B.S. in Engineering, is a Systems Engineering Manager in Marketing.)

The job itself

"You start by studying a customer's business even before he orders equipment. Then it's up to you to come up with a system that solves the customer's problems. You stay with it until it's installed and fully operational. You guide the customer every step of the way. So following through on your own ideas is part of your job."

5,000 more managers

"Another thing I like about working here is the chance for advancement. For example, IBM has over 5,000 more managers today than they had four years ago. And they need more every day."

We'd like to tell you more about the IBM story. We'll be interviewing on campus for careers in Marketing, Computer Applications, Programming, Research and Development, Manufacturing, and Field Engineering.

Sign up for an interview at your placement office, even if you're headed for graduate school or military service. And if you can't make a campus interview, send an outline of your interests and educational background to Mr. E. C. Purtell, Jr., IBM Corporation, 3424 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90005. BYU To Perform 'Bye Bye Birdie' For Troops

Fifteen BYU students have been chosen to play Broadway's musical hit, "Bye Bye Birdie," to U.S. servicemen throughout Europe, over the next year.

The eight-week tour is for the Dept. of Defense, under the sponsorship of the USO in association with the American Educational Theatre Association.

The cast members were selected after open tryouts which extended over a two week period. According to Tour Director Dr. Harold L. Hansen of BYU's Speech and Dramatic Arts Dept., the large number of students auditioning made it possible to select a highly gifted and talented personnel.

"The difficulty was in finalizing the selection to fifteen," said Hansen. "For with the qualified students available, it would have been possible to cast several productions."

Professor Hansen and the dramatic company will leave for Europe in March. Following their two month tour of U.S. military bases on the continent, the Dept. of Defense has granted the BYU troupe a two-week delay enroute, during which time they will perform in England and Scandinavia for groups affiliated with the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

In addition to "Bye Bye Birdie," the performers will prepare several variety numbers suitable for hospital performances.

THIRD TIME

The selection of BYU for this European Command tour was made by a committee of seven who represent the AETA. This is the third time in eight years BYU has been chosen to perform for American troops abroad. In 1959 and 1964 the University sent other theater troups to the Orient.

Special spring semester courses have been outlined for the students entertainers, which are completed before the students' departure in March.

What the interviewers won't tell you about General Electric.

"They won't tell you about all the job opportunities we have for college graduates—engineers, science, business and liberal arts majors. Not that they wouldn't like to. It's just that there are too many jobs and too little time. In a half-hour interview our man would barely have time to outline the scope and diversity of the opportunities we offer. That's why we published a brochure called 'Starting Points at General Electric.' In plain language it will tell you exactly how and where a person with your qualifications can start a career with General Electric. Pick up a copy at your Placement Office. Then arrange for a productive session with our interviewer. He'll be on your campus soon."

Mrs. Yvonne Quist read all of Bromfield's "The Man Who Had Everything" while her husband fixed a flat. She reads at 3,500 words per minute.

You'll find this hard to believe, but Mrs. Yvonne Quist of Salt Lake City actually sat in the back seat of their 1965 wagon and read (not skimmed) an entire book, cover to cover—270 pages of medium sized print. All this in the time it took her husband to change a tire.

Impossible, you say? A freak talent?

Mrs. Quist will be the first to tell you she's no genius when it comes to reading. All her life she read about 314 words a minute—just a little faster than the national average.

The problem with Mrs. Quist was that she read the "old way"—word by word.

If you don't think that's a problem, try an experiment: see how fast you can talk. You'll find you reach a limit—about 225 words a minute if you're good. When you sound out words in your head, you bog down in the same way. Even reading phrase by phrase has its modest limitations.

But when you train your eye to move down the page and read chunks of text—even long paragraphs—at a glance, there's almost no limit to the amount of material you can cover.

Can one really comprehend this way? Why, you're doing it all the time. For example, when you drive a car, you don't look at everything happening on the road, item by item. Your eye takes in the whole scene at a glance, and your mind puts it together to form a "picture."

You can do the same thing with reading.

So why do we tend to read slowly?

We're trained to hear every word we read, and see each word in sequence. Until recently, nobody believe it could be done any other way. It took Evelyn Wood almost twenty years of study to evolve a new reading technique that allows you to read at unusually high rates with no sacrifice of comprehension or reading enjoyment.

There's no trick. And there's no mystery. We show you what to do, and you practice until the new habit is formed.

You can do it, too!

You probably have one more question—is Mrs. Quist an exceptional reader? Not really. Just take a look at the beginning and ending speeds of typical graduates.
